

DR. LUNENFELD, ILL. FOR YEAR, IS DEAD AT 51

Jamaica Dentist and Realty Man Also Was Active in Politics

Dr. Bernard Lunenfeld, Jamaica dentist and realty man, died at 4 A. M. today at his home, 83-46 167th street, Jamaica, at the age of 51. He had been ill since he suffered a heart attack a year ago.

Dr. Lunenfeld practiced for the last eight years at 158-29 Jamaica avenue, Jamaica, with his son, Dr. Leonard Lunenfeld. Previously he maintained offices for many years in Richmond Hill.

Born in Austria, in 1887, Dr. Lunenfeld came to the United States in his youth. He was educated at New York and Columbia Universities.

He began his practice in Richmond Hill where he lived for 35 years before moving to Jamaica. He was past president of the Long Island Dental Society, an honorary member of the Police Honor Legion, past master of Council Masonic Lodge, Richmond Hill, former president of the Tammany Democratic Club of Jamaica, and a member of the Grand Jurors' Association.

In April, 1936, he filed a petition in bankruptcy in Brooklyn Federal Court, listing liabilities of $62,757 and no assets.

The bankruptcy resulted, Dr. Lunenfeld stated, from the collapse of his negotiations to build a million-dollar theatre and office building on Jamaica avenue in 1927.

Surviving Dr. Lunenfeld are his wife, Beatrice Gluckman Lunenfeld; a daughter, Hermine; three sons, Dr. Leonard, Raymond and Robert, all of Jamaica; a sister, Mary, the wife of Dr. Isadore Orgel, Jamaica dentist, and a brother, Dr. Julius Lunenfeld, Manhattan dentist.

Funeral services are being arranged.

Exhibits of Activities of Catholic Charities To Feature Dinner for Bishop on May 19th

Affair at Jamaica Armory to Climax Annual Appeal

A complete and colorful display of the activities of Catholic Charities and its affiliated organizations will feature the dinner to be tendered to His Excellency, Bishop Thomas E. Molloy of the Diocese of Brooklyn, at the Jamaica Armory, May 19, according to Joseph H. Burkard, general chairman of the men's division of the Bishop's Lay Committee for Catholic Charities which is sponsoring the dinner as a climax to the annual Bishop's Appeal.

Burkard, in announcing the plans of the exhibit committee which is headed by Francis X. Mangano and made up of the Rev. Ambrose McGowan, director of the Health Division of Catholic Charities and the Rev. Joseph A. Grogan in charge of Youth Activities for Queens, said:

"It is our intent in this exhibit to show how every effort of the Catholic charitable, social and health organizations are coordinated in a program of vast magnitude designed so that not only the poor, the unfortunate and distressed shall benefit, but so that those of sound circumstances may be welded into units in a comprehensive and far reaching program of social action. It is with this two-fold purpose that we plan such a display of our activities, so that those who wish to join with us may see a graphic presentation of the results of our efforts."

The theme center of the display which will be built around the four walls of the armory, will be a panel 24 feet high dedicated to the various divisions of the Catholic Charities program. This panel will be set off by a life size picture of the Bishop. It has been designed by a well-known scenic artist and will form the center of the exhibit which will extend the entire width of the armory. This exhibit has been laid out to show the coordinating function of Catholic Charities and how the affiliated organizations are welded into a complete program covering social case work, social group work, health and social action.

The Health Division will exhibit equipment from the various hospitals of the four counties of the Brooklyn Diocese. This exhibit will be under the personal direction of Father McGowan and is planned to contain equipment from institutions among which are Mary Immaculate Hospital in Jamaica, St. John's Hospital in Long Island City, St. Joseph's Hospital in Far Rockaway and many others. Ambulances and other equipment will be combined to form a colorful display of the facilities of the health units of Catholic Charities.

The section of the exposition covering the family service division will be laid out around the exhibit of the Saint Vincent De Paul Society which will feature the work of the society over the past year, particularly its salvage bureau and its program of parish and hospital visitation, as well as Camp Bishop McDonnell which it sponsors. A special display of the homes for the aged will form a section of this division and, according to plans, will include exhibits from the several institutions under the supervision of Catholic Charities.

Joseph H. Burkard, right, chairman of the Queens division of the Bishop's Lay Committee for Catholic Charities, which is sponsoring the dinner to Bishop Molloy at the Jamaica Armory, May 19, greets the Rt. Rev. Mons. J. Jerome Reddy, diocesan director of Catholic Charities.

In the Protective Care Division sector, the Catholic Big Brothers will feature an exhibit of its program of youth care and guidance covering the activities in which the Big Brothers supervise the boys assigned to their care by Catholic Charities. This display will show the protective youth program of Catholic Charities and display articles made by the boys in the parish centers directly contacted by the Catholic Big Brothers of Queens, notably among these being St. Mary Gate of Heaven, Ozone Park, St. Mary's in Flushing, and the recreational and vocational activities carried on in conjunction with the Morris Park Council of the Knights of Columbus.

In commenting on the Big Brothers exhibit, James F. T. Delaney, president of the Queens Big Brothers, said: "The proper guidance of our 'little brothers' in channels of constructive activity is one of the most important phases of our work. We continually aim to develop latent talents in these youngsters and the results of our efforts have been most gratifying when one looks at the result of the work."

Youth organizations under the supervision of Catholic Charities will be featured in the display of the Social Group Division which will be made up of exhibits of the Catholic Boy Scouts, which have had a remarkable growth in the various parishes of the borough during the past year, the Catholic Girl Scouts, the Catholic Boys' Brigade and units of the Junior Naval Militia. A complete Boy Scout camp will be set up on the armory floor under the personal direction of Father Grogan, director of the Catholic Boy Scouts in Queens. Various other exhibits covering many activities of the Catholic Charities among the youth of Queens will create a background for the entire display of this division.

The display of the Division of Social Action will be made up from among the several affiliated organizations comprising this division and will include a presentation of the activities of the Ladies of Charity of Queens under the direction of Mrs. Rose Greening, president of the group; the Intercolligate Association of Catholic Women and the Catholic Young Women's Club of Queens. In this division display the three-point program of Catholic Charities' activity in Queens will be featured to show how the effects of the many lay organizations are coordinated through the central body.

The dinner will be attended by the leading figures among the clergy and laity from Queens, Nassau and Suffolk, as well as many prominent figures from Brooklyn. This dinner is one of a series of scheduled events in the program of the Bishop's Appeal, now being conducted by the Bishop's Lay Committee. Other events include an organization tea for women of Queens, Nassau and Suffolk which will be held at the Garden City Hotel, Thursday.

DEATHS and FUNERALS

Timothy O'Leary

The funeral of Timothy O'Leary, father-in-law of Thomas F. Malone, Jamaica realtor and former president of the Jamaica Chamber of Commerce, will be conducted tomorrow morning from his home, 140-18 123rd avenue, South Ozone Park, where he died Saturday at the age of 77.

Requiem mass will be offered at 10 A. M. in St. Clement's R. C. Church, South Ozone Park, and burial will follow in Calvary Cemetery.

Mr. O'Leary was born in Kenmare, County Kerry, Ireland, and came to the United States as a boy of 10, settling in New Orleans.

He came to New York in 1876. He was a member of the Jefferson Democratic Club.

Mr. O'Leary leaves his wife, Catherine Connolly O'Leary; his daughter, Mrs. Thomas F. Malone, and a granddaughter, Mrs. Lillian V. Cullen.

Harold W. Earle

Services for Harold W. Earle, who died Saturday, will be conducted at 8 o'clock tonight at his home, 118-58 Riverton street, St. Albans, by the Rev. Francis D. Wallace of the Presbyterian Church of St. Albans.

Burial will take place tomorrow in Evergreens Cemetery.

Mr. Earle was born 35 years ago in Brooklyn and lived in Queens most of his life. For the last 15 years he had been employed by the New York Telephone Company, and he was a member of Mayflower Masonic Lodge and the Unity Square Club of Long Island.

Surviving are his wife, Mabel Ross Earle; a son, Harold, and a daughter, Maybelle; his parents, Charles and Marcella Earle, and a brother, Albert Earle.
