

ir. young and vivacious and was beautifully used. We wondered what ancient custom was hers. After she had been settled at some distance, we saw her rise and go to a partitioned case in. It was a large man, with dark, fierce face and a mustache that rose straight upward from under his nostrils. He seemed a stage detective made up to represent a villain. He looked at her for a moment, then certainly did not appear to belong to him. After a time he observed the girl in the case and catching her eye raised his eyebrows till they almost met his hair. She looked at him with a stare, then he turned away and stood sweetly and then we knew that his hours were about to begin as one. They were the dining room together. Next evening the girl in blue appeared with a fat, dumpy man in a white shirt and a black tie. She looked up with him and the stage detective stepped forward from a distance.

never saw women so powdered as these women of Paris. Mr. Lynch said one of the women he saw had a powder-box with her out of Ireland. Almost every woman you see on the street is powdered and powdered gives an undue and dishonest appearance. The powder is not put on with a brush, as in America, but is thrown over the head. The powder had run down by cheeks and collected in little white pellets about her ears.

The French women are extremely coarse, so far as we have seen. True, the upper ten of town just now, but it would be impossible to find a woman of the upper ten in any city that we have been in and see so little of beauty, innocence and health. I believe that if all the prettiest girls of Paris were to come to America, they would be despised; and the show they would make by collecting the prettiest girls of any American city of 100,000 inhabitants.

We have seen painted men with birds, mustaches and hair. They were circling away at the painted women in a most absurd manner. Some of the truly wicked went out and saw the birds by flashlight. It was noisy enough and there was plenty of laughing and screaming. The women were dressed in the latest fashions of the day. They found the birds and the shouting and the laughing of the women of extremely few manners. There was a lot of dancing that would have shocked the women of the 1920's. The ladies and gentlemen were not funny; they had come to see a party. Even the truly wicked came back and said that it was no wonder the Germans had been so stupid. They were so stupid they went to the morgue, of course, and saw the window five candidates for recognition staring out. All of them had been killed in the war. The women of the 1920's had a great gash in the forehead that looked as if it had been inflicted with a sharp subsequent address to the dog was one of most spirited things I ever heard. He answered, however, in a growl, and then, while the dog lay on the remains of the tree looking at him very phudly, its eyes half-closed, he spoke in a low, meaningful fashion.

[illegible]

Concluding that the dog was dropped to all apathy as to his honor or conscience, that he was not to be bothered, and that he had to abide, the waiter whirled the French paper and made a tremendous slash at him. The dog escaped with a howl and the last I saw of the waiter he was merrily laughing and patiently re-constructing the tree.

S. R.

MUSIC IN THE PARKS.

PROGRAMMES OF THE SATURDAY AND SUNDAY CONCERTS.

Following are the programmes of the contests in Brooklyn parks, on Saturday and Sunday afternoon, at 4 o'clock in each case.

"Prospect Park, Saturday, Fols' Twenty-third regiment band:

1. "The Irish Song" Alfred D. Fols
2. "Midsummer Night's Dream"
3. "The Rose Tree"
4. "The Rose Tree"
5. "The Rose Tree"
6. "The Rose Tree"
7. "The Rose Tree"
8. "The Rose Tree"
9. "The Rose Tree"
10. "The Rose Tree"

"Prospect Park, Sunday, Fols' Twenty-third regiment band:

1. "The Irish Song" Alfred D. Fols
2. "Midsummer Night's Dream"
3. "The Rose Tree"
4. "The Rose Tree"
5. "The Rose Tree"
6. "The Rose Tree"
7. "The Rose Tree"
8. "The Rose Tree"
9. "The Rose Tree"
10. "The Rose Tree"

[illegible][illegible]

THE EAGLE LAKE TRIP.

Operations were more than realized. It was the most delightful trip in my experience and the only one I could wish so far too short. I was greatly tempted to return. As far as the seasons are concerned, the weather was ideal. The food was handsomely furnished and I received every convenience for the comfort of my sons."

—

WILL FIGHT FOR HIS LICENSE.

Patrick H. McGinn, one of County Island's best hall keepers, whose common show place was rendered without a beating by Joe Schieren this week, has determined to fight his case to the bitter end. Yesterday afternoon McGinn was seen on a street carrying a small sign which read "I am fighting my case." McGinn says on the faith of the license he has ob-

other (to twins).—Why are you so naughty day, Jack? Jack.—Cuz it's my turn, my was naughty yesterday.—Harper's
ar.

1. Trade Marks (Reg'd.)

NO BICYCLISTS NEED APPLY.

Riding Club Members Object to Fa- vors Shown Them,

AND TALK OF INVOKING THE LAW

Some members of the Brooklyn Riding and Driving club are feeling aggrieved because the committee having in charge the purchase of land adjoining the club house, and the erection of a new carriage house, has seen fit to recommend that the second floor of the proposed new building shall be used as a place for the storage of wheels, and for inside riding in winter. Most of the members are making the protest are ultra-conservative and are in the habit of denigration of the horse's rival, believing that it will work disaster to the club. Incidentally, they object to the expense of the work, although it will cost less than $5,000 to make the extra arrangements needed for the bicyclists.

One of the members, who is bitterly opposed to the project, had this to say on the subject to an Eagle reporter this morning: "We have just applied for a building to be purchased to the members stating that at the annual meeting in May a proposition was submitted to the directors to purchase a building adjoining the club house corner Flushing avenue and Plaza street, for about $35,000. The circular goes on to say that the directors have agreed to purchase the building and the land and that it had been decided to erect a building thereon. The main object of the building is to be used to provide a carriage house for vehicles and to provide the building more convenient for the horse shows. The circular stated specifically: 'We have just applied for a building to be purchased to the members stating that at the annual meeting in May a proposition was submitted to the directors to purchase a building adjoining the club house corner Flushing avenue and Plaza street, for about $35,000. The circular goes on to say that the directors have agreed to purchase the building and the land and that it had been decided to erect a building thereon. The main object of the building is to be used to provide a carriage house for vehicles and to provide the building more convenient for the horse shows. The circular stated specifically: 'We and went on to state that the cost for such a building, and the opposition of some of the members, prevented it. It was proposed, in the event of the purchase of a building, to issue bonds for $40,000 and to use the same and to the amount of $15,000 for this purpose. It is claimed by members of the club that the directors had no legal right to dilate in this manner, and that the system of its present indebtedness or to increase its liability to the extent of $40,000. At the time of the last balance sheet, April 30, 1885, the club was in debt to the extent of over $270,000. It is claimed that the directors, as a conservative cost of building, but it is a well known fact that from $50,000 to $100,000 was wasted by the criminal negligence in the construction and by expensive mistakes on the building.

"On the 30th of July the members received another circular from the committee, stating that the bonds had been fully subscribed for, and that the building was to be commenced.

was ascertained. This morning at 10:45 airtel circulation was sent out, stating that on account of a mistake of the architect, Mr. Frank Pressing was found to be $24,000 instead of $5,000, and a deficit of $3,000 in a three-floor apartment building was to be substituted for a flat roof, mainly to provide a hall for wheelchair access, and it was agreed in this way by expending less than $25,000 to correct the error. The architect was assured, and since the basement and ground floor will give superabundant space for wheelchair access, the architect was assured that the financial condition of the club is such that the increased cost can be easily provided for. The committee has decided to proceed with the building, and has been of the opinion that the financial condition of the club is such that the increased cost can be easily provided for. The committee has decided to proceed with the building, and has been of the opinion that the financial condition of the club is such that the increased cost can be easily provided for.

clists would be provided, under which conditions the bonds would be subscribed for, and the operation of the members' initiative and referendum movement is under foot among the members to bring legal action to prevent the fruition of this plan. This action of the committee is based on the belief of the members to be soundly warranted, and unless rescinded trouble is bound to ensue."

It is claimed that the following members have expressed themselves as ready to take part in any movement against the innovation:

Colonel John N. Partridge, Frank Arnold, George E. Fahys, Frederick W. Hinrichs, George W. Kenyon, Guy Loomis, C. M. Ladd, J. S. Quinn, J. H. Smith, J. W. Smith, John E. Richardson, H. H. Salmon, Millard F. Smith, E. N. Sproule, John Arbutuckle, James Turner, John L. Helms, William A. Paine, J. H. Peabody, F. A. Luenbach, Leonard Moody, F. D. Peabody, J. W. Pirlé, Clarence H. Robbins, Louis Schott,

S. F. Strett, W. E. Thorp, W. M. Tuttle, W. M. Walsh, Jr., St. John Wood, James W. Wood, H. H. Wood, W. H. Wood, Mrs. Major W. L. Candee, James H. Hart, J. H. Walbridge, Percy C. Williams, N. G. Ayres, Frank Bailey, Francis Beard, Alexander Cameron, C. Doremus and James N. Jarvis.

W. N. Drykman, president of the Riding and Driving club, is out of the city and will not return before September 10. One of his friends, Fred W. Wood, is also out of the city in the organization, and that all the turmoil was created by a few members who were afraid that the admission of wheelmen would tend to ruin the club.

"Their action is perfectly ridiculous," he said. "Wheelmen must be reorganized, ever since the Riding and Driving club. The other charges made will not be received with credence, where because the members of the committee are too well and too favorably known."

An Eagle reporter tried without success to get some member of the club's board of directors to-day (Friday) to go abroad. E. H. Litchfield is in the country, Register of Arrivals Frederick Hinrichs is on his vacation and W. H. Force was not at his office.

DIED.
BANDECHCA—On August 22, SERAFINA, beloved husband of Ann Murphy.
Funeral services on Saturday, August 24, at St. Anthony's church, 100 West 125th street, at Willoughby and Lewis avs. Interment at Holy

Flatsbury Cemetery, Flatbush, Please omit flowers.

SPECIAL ADVERTISEMENTS.

High Class Tailoring at Moderate Charges.
Only at T. NICHOLL, Eastman's
306 High Holborn, London, Eng.
Directly opposite Finsbury Avenue Hotel.
Respectfully solicits introduction of the aristocratic stock of Finest English and Scotch Fabrics, Garnments cut by artist out-fitters so Accurately fashioned.

Printing of Every Description neatly and promptly executed at the EAGLE JOB PRINTING DEPT.
Eagle Building, Washington and Johnson Streets.